Appropriation Bill Calls for $217,652,174, as Against $149,656,865 Planned.

Washington, D. C., April 24.—The naval appropriation bill for the fiscal year 1917, framed by a house committee and submitted to the committee today, carries $217,652,174, against $149,656,865 appropriated for the current fiscal year. This is inclusive of public works and is on the basis of the navy department's proposed building program for 1917.

The navy department's building program for 1917, which is for two battleships, two battle cruisers, three scout cruisers, 15 destroyers, 20 submarines, two gunboats, one hospital ship and one fuel oil ship, is embodied without change for the committee to take up next Thursday. This proposed building program would cost $25,272,127 against $45,653,861 for this year and includes $27,647,660 for hulls, outfit and machinery, $13,000 for outfit and machinery, and $7,675,900 for hulls and outfit for five fleet submarines and 25 coast submarines proposed, and $21,689,000 for the naval advisory committee for construction of the 1917 building program. There is also an item of $28,369,117 for construction and machinery of vessels heretofore authorized.

Carries $2,000,000 For Aviation.
For aviation in the navy, including maintenance of aircraft, stations and experimental work in development of aviation for naval purposes, the bill carries $2,000,000 and in addition $84,000 for the naval advisory committee for aerostatics. The naval militia is given $187,737 instead of $250,000 as at present and the states of Massachusetts and New York get $125,000 each as reimbursement for expenses incurred in maintenance of marine schools in those states.

In personnel, the bill provides for 12,500 additional men. For naval auxiliaries, $950,000 is allowed, an increase of $150,000.

Always Has Dandruff in His Hair, Brown Tinted Teeth and Lame Back.

druff in his hair, and his trouble was, however, a considerable truth in this report, as Villa complained of an aching back while at the Corralitos ranch, following the Columbus raid.

On March 3, a man resembling Pancho Villa, quizzed with a water in a French restaurant in New Orleans, because the chef did not put enough cheese upon his enchiladas. The man resembled Villa and was bowlegged. He had dandruff in his hair and trimmed his finger nails with a stillito, in leaving the place he attempted to carry off the cashier, a large woman, who hid him over the head with a long loaf of bread. The man disappeared and has not been heard from since.

Also in Birth 9.
On April 1, a Pullman conductor on an Illinois Central train found a great quantity of Villa's flat money in a pair of shoes, beneath berth No. 9 in Pullman car "Defiance." He was in the act of counting the money, when a hand reached out of the lower berth, knocked him down, grabbed the shoes, and disappeared. Later a man stepped forth from the berth who resembled Pancho Villa. He was bowlegged, had dandruff in his hair and had his teeth stained brown.

On April 3, after a lapse of four days, a disturbance occurred in a theater in Chicago, when a man resembling Pancho Villa, took exception to a movie picture, which showed George Carothers shaking hands with Gen. Gabriel Gaviro. Four others attempted to eject the man, but he refused to be ejected. A general fight ensued in which the man thought to be Villa, broke the nose of the organist and two ribs of one of the ushers. He escaped, crying as he took the red curtains of the doorway with him: "Down with Carranza." His pronunciation was identified as positively being that of Villa. A photograph man who was present when Villa talked with Gen. Scott and took a record of the conversation, did the identification.

Identified in Fifth Avenue.
On April 16, when the trouble occurred at Parcel between the populace and the Americans, Villa is said to have been identified by a Russian chauffeur on Fifth avenue in New York. The blond at the time was dressed in a Prince Albert coat, light grey trousers, white spots, a stove pipe hat and a Mexican cigar. The identification occurred when Villa stopped at a florist's stand and insisted upon paying a five dollar gold piece for a white carnation. Later he entered St. Patrick's cathedral and remained in absolute quiet. He was seen two hours later to come out of the cathedral, call a cab, and drive off to Hoboken, where it is believed he took a steamer for Chateaux, France. In France, it was said, Villa would study the methods of Napoleon.

Has Left Leg, Then Loses It.
Quite on the other hand, another set of reports, gathered by the imaginary bureau, show that Villa came to the United States after the engagement at Cuernavaca and that he first took a left leg and later disappeared with it.

Prior to the Los Angeles identification by the Red Cross nurse, a man resembling Pancho Villa, with squinty eyes, brown teeth and dandruff in his hair, was seen in Bisbee, Ariz., conversing with a section foreman by the name of Pablo Lopez. The two men talked very quietly, and he himself was called Villa used crutches. His left leg was tied up in a rummy sack and the expression in his eyes showed that he had suffered.

On April 3, a man limped into the St. Francis hotel at San Francisco, and notified him of the guests. The police, who had been called, and the man was ejected. He had squinty eyes, brown teeth and dandruff in his hair. Just as he was being lifted into a "Black Maria" a well dressed woman, sparkling with diamonds and carrying a bouquet of American Beauty roses, said: "I know this man. I will provide for him." The police bowed and lifted the man with the gunny sack bandage into the big gray limousine. The woman was heard to murmur: "My poor Pancho. There are 'facts' sufficient to completely establish that this woman was one of the many Mrs. Villa and that Villa was carried to her apartment.

Loses Leg in Berkeley.
On April 6, a Chinese, by the name of Pan, One Lung Gun, amputated the left leg of a Mexican at a private home in Berkeley. While under the anesthesia the Mexican, who was operated upon while continuously of Huerta, Carranza and Orozco. When the police were informed of the fact, they made a search of the house and found the empty, the tenants having left on April 7.

On April 10, a gray limousine car arrived at Portland, Ore., and one of the passengers was a one legged man with brown teeth, dandruff in his hair, and the remaining leg looked "bowed." On April 12, the same car appeared at Seattle, Wash., drove up to the pier of an Oriental steamship company and deposited a woman dressed in a sea green ubiquitous blouse. A one legged man was assisted up the gangway and three hours later the steamer sailed for Shanghai.

Will Meet Himself.
The inference to be drawn from the two different sets of reports, gathered at a great expense to the imaginary bureau, is that both are correct and that Pancho Villa will probably meet himself at the Texas canal, and avoid coming by way of New York and the one legged man arriving from Shanghai.

The children's mitzvah box offerings for missions amounted to over $115. At this service there were three Baptisms by Rev. Henry Easter. Shanghai, China, April 24.—Two hundred and sixteen members of the national assembly met here Sunday night and unanimously adopted a resolution denouncing president Yuan Shi Kai's mandate creating a constitutional cabinet, and refusing to accept any solution of the political situation that included Yuan Shi Kai as president.

It is understood that two prominent foreigners recently approached leaders of the southern party, asking quarters for the army and property of Yuan Shi Kai and his supporters if the president retired, but the republicans declined the invitation.

Multitudes in the Kiangyin forts, forestalling the plans of the government forces, attacked the Longhai station at Wushikiang. The fighting continued all night. The first task of the cabinet, he said, would be to restore tranquility.

In reply to a question regarding the respective powers of the president and the new cabinet, the premier said: "China now has a responsible cabinet and premier. Full power lies in their hands. It is in those of the president. The cabinet will move outside the palace grounds and only matters of the greatest importance will be referred to the president for discussion.

The new parliament will promulgate a constitution."
